

Walden Pond

Well the night's fallin' in so slowly
There's a heart pounding wild and so strong
You're sending out for smiles
Or maybe even more
You'd like to speak, it's strange, but you just can't.

See the trees loose their green and now they're coloured
You've been running all day and you just couldn't perceive
Ideas are filling the air
What are you trying to say?
What are you trying to find or hoping to see?

In the backstreets of a fast movin' town
Where hearts are buried right before they're grown
Where love is traded for dreams
Or for a vacant place
You're looking for someone who's really there.

Well the night's fallin' in so slowly
There's a heart pounding wild and so strong
You're sending out for smiles
Or maybe even more
You'd like to speak, it's strange, but you just can't.

Chorus

Meet me tonight at Walden Pond
Meet me tonight under the stars
Meet me tonight, wherever you like
But please meet me tonight.

Meet me tonight at the gas station
Meet me tonight at the library
Meet me tonight, wherever you like
But please meet me tonight.
